BALANCED NEWS, FEARLESS VIEWS

IN CUSTODY OF THE PHILIPPINE NATIONAL POLICE Five teams of policemen on Thursday enforce the arrest warrant for former President and now Pampanga Rep. Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo and nine others who are facing nonbailable plunder charges for the alleged misuse of P325 million in Philippine Charity Sweepstakes Office intelligence funds.

US debate: Romney wins first round vs Obama

WASHINGTON—Mitt Romney regained momentum in the first debate by aggressively standing up to Barack Obama, analysts said, but it remains to be seen how much he can budge the needle in the White House race.

Obama spoke longer during the 90-minute showdown in Denver on Wednesday but the Republican challenger landed more blows against an often-subdued president in their first of three debates ahead of the Nov. 6 vote.

MVP, GMA 7 talks collapse over price, down payment

By Doris C. Dumlao

AN ALMOST "done" deal for a controlling stake in "Kapuso" network GMA 7 by the group of businessman Manuel V. Pangilinan has collapsed over regulatory "risk-sharing" issues.

The Philippine Long Distance Telephone Co. (PLDT) group disclosed to the Philippine Stock Exchange yesterday that MediaQuest Holdings Inc., an investee company of PLDT Beneficial Trust Fund, had terminated recent discussions with GMA Network's major shareholders.

Ex-President back in hospital; cops looking for 9 other coaccused

By Julie M. Aurelio and Cynthia D. Balana

IT'S BACK to Veterans Memorial Medical Center (VMMC) for embattled former President Gloria Macapagal-Arroyo.

Lying on a bed and with an IV drip, Arroyo, now a Pampanga representative, was served an arrest warrant issued yesterday afternoon by the Sandiganbayan on plunder charges.

The case stemmed from the alleged misuse of P325 million in intelligence funds of the Philippine Charity Sweepstakes Office (PCSO). (See What Went Before on Page A22).

The warrant was issued on Oct. 3 following determination of probable cause by the antigraft court's First Division, supporting a resolution of the Office of the Ombudsman denying a motion for reconsideration by the accused.

Also ordered arrested were former PCSO Chair Sergio Valencia, General Manager Rosario Uriarte, Board Directors Manuel Morato, Raymundo Roquero, Jose Taruc V and Ma. Fatima Valdes, Assistant General Manager Benigno Aguas, former Commission on Audit Chair Reynaldo Villar and COA Region V head Nilda Plaras.

This is the first plunder case filed against Arroyo and the third criminal case she is facing. She has been charged with election sabotage and corruption in connection with the botched National Broadband Network.

Binay eldest daughter UNA's 12th Senate bet

By Tarra Quismundo

THE UNITED Nationalist Alliance (UNA) is fielding Vice President Jejomar Binay's eldest daughter as its 12th senatorial candidate in next year's midterm elections.

Nancy Binay, the eldest of Binay's five children, is a newcomer to politics. She is replacing businessman Jose "Joey" de Venecia III, who backed off at the last minute on Monday.

UNA announced Binay's candidacy yesterday, beating the deadline for the filing of certificates of candidacy (COC) set by the Commission on Elections (Comelec) by one day.

Former Sen. Jamby Madrigal also beat the deadline, filing her COC to run again for a seat in the Senate as a candidate under the Liberal Party-led administration

MEET WITH AN EXPERT FOR FREE AT THE SHOW IN MANILA!

By: Michael Ross
Great Canadian Roadshow
Staff Writer

The Great Canadian Roadshow has finally made its way to the great country of the Philippines! Now is your chance to take advantage of this opportunity and have your items evaluated by one of their professionals! People from all over the world are in possession of some very rare items and may not even know it!

The Roadshow experts will provide you with an accurate and fair evaluation of all your valuables, FREE OF CHARGE, and will also educate you on anything you need to know.

Since their inception, the Roadshow has been traveling across the world, searching for all of your forgotten treasures. They accept virtually anything, so don't be afraid to bring in that old family heirloom or even your grandfathers old coin collection because you never know what value they may hold.

Expert John Fleming explains, "Due to the recent increase in the price of gold and silver, we have seen a large increase of traffic towards the Roadshow. During these tough economic times, people are simply looking for any way to help their financial situation. GCR experts can provide you with useful information about your items and even offer a value for the items right on the spot."

The Great Canadian Roadshow specializes in precious metal evaluation, specifically gold and silver, and they are looking at all different kinds of necklaces, bracelets, rings and anything else you feel holds some value.

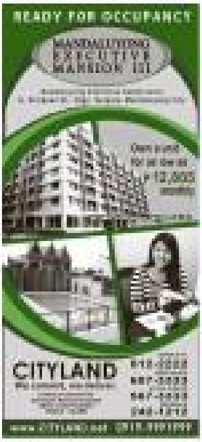

At a recent Roadshow event, a customer walked in with a box full of coins he got as a child from his grandfather. Not knowing their true value, he brought in his collection for our coin experts to examine.

"We uncovered a rare British Sovereign minted back in 1948", explains GCR expert Joe Wilson. "He also brought us a bunch of his vintage gold and silver coins that we were able to analyze and evaluate. Even though they didn't have rare mintages, they were still extremely valuable due to their gold and silver content."

After his experience, Ray Matthews was able to cash in with an incredible $3,800! "I never expected to get anything for all these old coins. Now I can finally afford to renovate my basement!", explains Mr. Matthews.

Traveling across the world since 2010, the Great Canadian Roadshow has been seeking out the world's most unique items. Gold and silver jewelry, sterling silver, pocket watches, antiques and rare collectibles are examples of items being purchased at the show. Remember that this service is FREE OF CHARGE, so be sure to take advantage of this amazing opportunity.

Noah's website survives great flood of cyberattacks

By Kristine Felisse Mangunay

LIKE the biblical Noah who rode out the Great Flood, this Noah also emerged unscathed.

Attempts to hack the Project Noah website were repulsed by Department of Science and Technology (DOST) engineers and programmers on Thursday, according to project head Mahar Lagmay.

Project Noah, which only recently became operational, monitors weather patterns, measures rainfall and serves as a warning system, among other things.

The Philippine Atmospheric, Geophysical and Astronomical Services Administration (Pagasa) is using it to monitor Tropical Storm "Marce" which is affecting the country.

Hacking attempts

Lagmay said the hacking attempts came soon after other government websites were broken into to protest the Cybercrime Prevention Act or Republic Act No. 10175.

The hackers protested the new law curtailed their freedom of speech.

Lagmay first announced the online attacks through his Twitter account just after 10 a.m. yesterday.

In a later tweet, he said there were Distributed Denial of Service (DDOS) attacks on Project Noah's servers.

In a DDOS assault, a hacker or group of hackers use several compromised systems to maliciously flood a single one.

Sought for comment later, Lagmay said the DOST engineers and programmers had to "put countermeasures down" to repel the attacks.

A check of the website at the time showed that some weather-related data could not be accessed.

On top of the situation

Because the DOST personnel "were on top of the situation" though, Lagmay said, the website was completely functional after around four hours.

"Hats off to our DOST engineers and programmers. We were just attacked but defenses repelled the assault," he tweeted a few minutes before noon.

Lagmay said in the phone interview he had "no idea" who would want to hack the website but believed it may well have been connected to the controversial new law.

"These kinds of activities happen. [illegible]," he told the Inquirer.

Metro mayors willing to take drug testing

THE 13 mayors of Metro Manila are willing to undergo drug testing to erase doubts of drug use among local chief executives.

TEACHERS' MONTH

Search for outstanding teachers inspires excellence

FOR OVER 25 years now, Metrobank has been tirelessly giving recognition to outstanding Filipino teachers through its Metrobank Foundation's Search for Outstanding Teachers (SOT).

[illegible]

ty's unsung heroes, because he mission/from our educators, soldiers, and police officers greatly contribute to our nation's prosperity," said Metrobank Foundation president Aniceto M. Sobrepeña.

"Through the recognition of the best among the country's educators, soldiers, and police officers, we realize that their success is also Metrobank's success. We take pride in their noble efforts to fulfill the potential of our nation. As we celebrate Metrobank's golden year, we are grateful for the opportunity to take part in uplifting the Filipino spirit through these very noble professions," he concluded.

Since its establishment in 1979, the Metrobank Foundation has sought to promote and foster the values of excellence and achievement among the people. In its commitment to make a difference in the lives of its chosen stakeholders and contribute to nation building, the programs of the foundation have always endeavored to encourage and reward individuals and organizations to be the best they can be, and in the process, inspire the rest to similarly strive for the highest standards of performance or conduct in their respective professions.

Outstanding Teacher Dr. Catherine Vistro-Yu delivered the response on behalf of the awardees.

"The privilege of sharing the stage with men and women of extraordinary dedication, skill and courage makes this evening even more memorable. While we teachers spend each day helping children read, write and count within the safe confines of our classrooms, you in uniform risk your lives maintaining peace and order in our nation and in our neighborhoods or protecting people and property, day in and day out.

"Your choice of career and the keeping of your vow to be the guardians of our country and our people are an important part of why we can pursue our different vocations," said Vistro-Yu, a professor at the Mathematics Department of Ateneo de Manila University. "Gratitude is the very least we can give for your sacrifice and commitment in the safeguards of public welfare and safety," she added.

'Your choice of career and the keeping of your vow to be the guardians of our country and our people are an important part of why we can pursue our different vocations'

Dr. Vistro-Yu has been instrumental in the development of mathematics education in the country when she developed two framework documents that set the standards for mathematics curriculum in schools in order to achieve excellence in mathematics. She was also the president and one of the founding members of the Philippine Council of Mathematics Teacher Educators (MATHTED), establishing herself as one of the leading figures in mathematics education in the Philippines.

Her feats in the development of mathematics education earned her the prestigious The Outstanding Women in the Nation's Service (TOWNS) in 2007.

Since 1985, SOT, in partnership with the Department of Education (DepEd) and the Commission on Higher Education (CHED), has been recognizing educators who have dedicated their lives to mentoring the youth through classroom instruction and beyond and by serving as models of excellence in their respective communities. The search has become a sought-after award among educators as it carried the prestige of becoming a benchmark of excellence in the teaching profession.

The winners were conferred with plaques and gold medals for excellence in public service and were also awarded with a combined total cash prize of P4.8 million for the three searches. The other two searches of Metrobank are the Ten Outstanding Soldier (TOS) and Country's Outstanding Policemen (COP).

ELEMENTARY competition winners are: Dr. Federico D. Santos Jr. of Sta. Rita Elementary School (Capas, Tarlac); Naima P. Manganang of Marick Integrated School (Pasig City); Hizel M. Velaño of Anabu II Elementary School (Imus, Cavite); and Mariam B. Rivamonte of Santa Cruz South Central School (Santa Cruz, Marinduque). Secondary competition winners are: Dr. Arnie I. Rodriguez of the Philippine Science High School-Southern Mindanao Campus (Davao City); Bonifacio D. Candilan Jr. of Ernesto Rondon High School (Quezon City); Marivi L. Castro of General Santos City SPED Integrated School; and Dalmeo C. Alfaro of Concepcion Integrated School-Secondary (Marikina City). Dr. Nilda C. Montaño of the West Visayas State University (Iloilo City) and Dr. Catherine P. Vistro-Yu of the Ateneo de Manila University (Quezon City) are the winners for the higher education category.

Hundreds Paid Tribute to Teachers

Once again, the spotlight was on the teachers.

The Rato Bahasi Foundation and Diwa Learning Systems hosted anew the special event for teachers to honor them and bring to fore their vital role in shaping the country's future.

This year's "A Tribute to Teachers" was held at Crowne Plaza Hotel in Ortigas Center, Quezon City. Hundreds of educators from all over the country gathered in this much-anticipated annual event to hear inspiring stories and celebrate the vocation that molds and nurtures generations.

Rato Bahasi Foundation chair Saturnino G. Belen opened the celebration with a recollection on the journey the foundation took to help uplift the lives of teachers. Diwa Learning Systems executive director Elma Reyes followed with a thanksgiving message.

Department of Education Secretary Brother Armin Luistro also graced the event, which has become one of the landmark commemorations of the National Teachers' Month.

Hearts and souls were touched when Ballet Philippines' Principal Dancers Candice Adea and JM Cordero gave their dance interpretation of Given up Ours, a song commissioned by Rato Bahasi Foundation that celebrates the essence of being a teacher.

Highlighting the celebration was the presentation of this year's honorees for The Many Faces of the Teacher.

The Many Faces of the Teacher (TMFT) identifies outstanding educators who can be role models for other teachers. These individuals are chosen because of their resilience despite the challenges brought about by their vocation, and their selfless dedication to education.

This year's honorees include teachers Reinaldo Sibugan

GUESTS share stories with each other moments before the program started. The program gave special mention to five teachers who have shown dedication to their vocation. "A Tribute To Teachers" was hosted by the Rato Bahasi Foundation and Diwa Learning Systems.

Eyas and Bryan Rey Cagay Carreon who go the distance for their students. Teaching elementary, Eyas and Carreon are multi-grade teachers who trek weekly to reach their students from the Mangguang Tribe in Sitio Dumalagding in Davao del Sur.

Every week, they go on a six-hour journey through rough roads and rugged terrain, followed by crossing streams and walking up mountain slopes. The path they chose was not easy. Their road is long, but for their students, it's a journey worth taking, even if it means sacrificing personal time and resources. Both shell out their own money to help their students continue with their education.

Another honoree is Roderic Bangayan Guinocay from Tuguegarao City. For him, education can happen any time. As a mobile educator, he roams the streets searching for out-of-school youths, housewives, and even tricycle drivers who want to pursue their dreams to finish school. Their new beginning is just a phone call away. He uses his mobile phone to continue tutoring sessions even when away. He wants to share everyone how education can make a difference in their lives. He patiently guides them through elementary and college until they finally have the employment they always dreamed of.

Also joining this year's roster of honorees is Florelita Ampo Peña, Ph.D. She fights against poverty, distance, and hunger everyday to help students stay in school. An education advocate, she established Sagip: a Students advocacy program, under which various efforts are made to help high school students finish their studies.

One such project is Bahay Sagip, a two-room home that serves as a dormitory for high school students. This project was conceived because based on the school's record, only 50 percent of students who live from far-flung areas finish the school year. These students walk 3 to 4 hours to get to school. Some even have to cross a river more than 20 times and swing vines just to make travel time a little bit faster.

Completing the list is teacher Bellie Arsolemus Adalin, an instructional innovator. Among the greatest challenges for educators are the struggling learners because they need special care and a lot of attention. Teacher Bellie Arsolemus Adalin or Ma'am Ivy has been helping them cope with their difficulties in their studies for more than 10 years now in a rural town in Sultan Kudarat. Instead of forcing her students to learn through traditional means, she decided to change her teaching style to match their learning styles. Despite being in a rural school, she used, out of her own expense, the power of multimedia technology to communicate to her students.

After the presentation, pop princess Sarah Geronimo serenaded the honorees and all the educators in attendance.

Teaching is the profession that nurtures all the other professions.

To all our beloved teachers, maraming, maraming salamat po.

RTW–it's the way to go global, says Lesley Mobo

The UK-based designer will stage his first-ever gala show on Oct. 29 at SM Arena

LESLEY Mobo designs the RTW line Mobo and, soon, the British label Ghost

By Cheche V. Moral

NOTHING wrong with made-to-order, but if a Filipino wants to succeed as a designer in the global fashion scene, ready-to-wear is the way to go.

That's the template of the Lesley Mobo experience, the London-based Filipino designer who built a career around RTW.

"I think that there are so many talented Filipino designers," Mobo wrote to Inquirer Lifestyle, "but to be internationally competitive, they need to be ready to try their hand at ready-to-wear fashion, as well as their wonderful couture

TWELVE THOUSAND people braved the early morning drizzle to take part with the athletes in Action during the Fila's Schools Run for School Rooms challenge.

From students to office employees and celebrities, the runners showed their support for the rehabilitation of schoolrooms in Iligan City which was hit by Typhoon Sendong.

The run was led by administrator Joel Villanueva of the Technical Education Skills Development Administration.

Villanueva extended the President's greetings to the benefit run and led in the gun start.

He also led the awarding ceremonies with Fila honchos Butch and Cris Albert.

Also joining the awarding ceremonies were Other Forsythe Rep. Shernette Ragma and wife Jossi T., executive director of iCare Foundation, another beneficiary of the advocacy run, palanggas.

Athletes in Action national director Jose Andres said: "Any work that makes life better for others is worth doing, no matter how demanding it may be."

Event organizer and Hyper Innovations CEO and managing director Edith Mendoza, who underscored the power of concerted effort of people.

"In our coming together, united by our desire to help Iligan get back on her feet, we have taken a giant step to her recovery," she explained.

Aside from Fila and individual runners, top corporations rallied behind the run for Iligan schools: Sony, Gardenia, Fuzzi Peros, OneCom, Sogeeal Healthy Chips, Monna Miles, Timeless Air Concerns, Paramount Life and General Insurance Corp. and Benilic Estate Services Corp.

Other sponsors: PBS, GMA 7, BusinessWorld, MyStarStudios.

A total of 18 runners emerged as top finishers in the 3K, 5K and 10K categories.

But everyone felt a winner, dahlings, as the runners knew they had been part of a worthy cause.

Di ba, palanggas?

Fila owner Butch Albert was very pleased with the turnout. "Let's do this again," he said. Amen, sir!

Metrobank Femme Visa

The women were in the limelight again when Metrobank Card Corp. introduced the new Femme Visa in Seventh High at The Fort.

Hosted by G Tongi, no less, dahlings, the event featured a fashion show to showcase "the different facets of a woman," in which Metrobank executives representing the regions participated.

Billy Crawford serenaded the invitees.

Lucky guests went home with special raffle prizes that included a Beauty Specialists Inc. Purple Card, Rags Laurel Ragazzi Nehoe bag, an iPhone 4s and the new iPad.

Metrobank Card Corp. president Mike Abdurrahman was beaming with pride, natch!

"Our mission is to always empower women," Abdurrahman said. "Metrobank takes it up a notch with better perks and privileges for women. Every Femme Visa cardholder is entitled to exciting deals and discounts from Metrobank's partner merchants like Healthway Medical, Nail Tropics, Beverly Hills 6750 and The Spa."

Petrol Jeans

Petrol Jeans launched its stunning Fall-Winter 2012 collection at the SMX Convention Center.

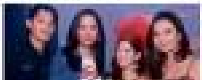

The collection was inspired by muscle cars, road, grease and dirt details. It revived much of Petrol's vintage glory.

Guests were Mr. Universe Finalist Rhamony Sopnap, Sam Yap, and "Survivor" finalist Kiko Rustia.

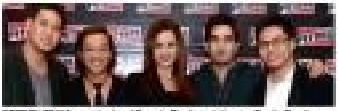

"More than just a clothing name, Petrol Jeans is a lifestyle symbol of one self-empowerment for individuals who want to stand out and be themselves. The campaign in particular is all about garnering enough strength to be one's true self," said Petrol brand director Benjie Torrejon.

Amen to that.

Meet Oliver Santiago, the boy behind the cover of the Graphika Manila 2012 book

By Abigail Vizcarra,
Student contributor, Cosmopoint International Institute of Technology

"WOW! NICE! OBZ! Amazing! Did you see the book? How cool!"

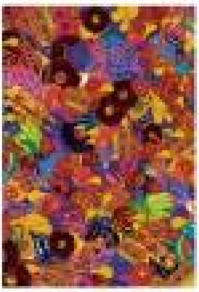

Well, these are the comments I've been hearing from my classmates and schoolmates on the unique and brilliant works of another classmate, Oliver Santiago, or "Master OBZ," as most people at school call him. This is not your ordinary 16-year-old boy as he bends are bound to create enormous possibilities and unexpected opportunities. On Aug. 11, his artwork "Freedom" became the cover of the Graphika Manila 2012 book, distributed to over 2,000 people who attended the International Multimedia Design Conference.

He also has another artwork, "World of Doodle," featured in the said book, which is filled with different digital illustrations and photos from contributing artists around the country and the world.

Involving your name with Graphika Manila truly means something. Graphika Manila is a multimedia and graphic design event in the Philippines that has been held since 2006, involving 10,000 design professionals and students from different parts of the country and the globe. It has become the most influential multimedia event nationwide.

Santiago was also one of the creators of the teaser video, alongside our schoolmates Ben Lozada, Myka Lagunda, Jayson Garcia and Sean Gonzales, which was shown at the event itself, that helped promote Cosmopoint International Institute of Technology (CIIT) as one of the best multimedia arts schools.

He is currently working as a freelance graphic artist/illustrator based here in Manila. He's also studying as a freshman at CIIT, taking up Multimedia Arts and Graphic Design.

"As a simple person, I love to satisfy myself with inspiration and triggers, and I do it by searching random artworks, and try to apply them on my own. I'd like to be a professional someday. I aspire for class and perfection. With less effort, yet more patience, I could hear/learn, and learn more about my passion," Santiago said.

Digital artwork

Aside from the cover that he made, he also created a digital artwork for our school's promotional poster that was seen during the entire event.

As I got to talk with him, he mentioned that since he was a kid, he just realized that art was really his passion. He started doing digital art in his high school days, when his friend introduced him to it. His inspirations are the people who appear to be better than him, which makes him want to hone his creative skills more.

'Master OBZ,' as most people at school call him, is not your ordinary 16-year-old boy

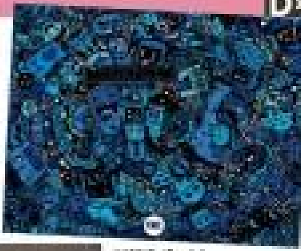

"FREEDOM" on the cover of the Graphika Manila 2012 book; Oliver Santiago with organizer Arvin Bonbol

"As of now, I can't say that I already have my own style. Let's just say I'm still in the process of learning," he said. Also, he said that managing his time is the only difficulty that he encounters sometimes, because he's not good at it. When I asked him how he felt when his art made it to be the cover of Graphika Manila 2012 book, he told me, "It was like, wow! Is it real? Tell me I'm just dreaming! Haha!"

Ten years from now, he hopes to be a professional graphic designer and illustrator. "Just keep yourself inspired and motivated with things around you," he advised. "Just be who you are and just do what you want."

This young artist's story shows that age doesn't matter when it comes to reaching and fulfilling your dreams. "At first I was really shocked because I wasn't really expecting it, until I received an e-mail from them. All I wanted was to be included in the book, that's all, nothing more! But then I was blessed; I made it! My first entry was a published work, but I was not confident about it and I decided to make a new one. I was even more shocked when I found out that my other entry was also included in the book. What happened to me can happen to anyone. Just do what you love. Go out and satisfy yourself with inspiration."

"WORLD of Doodle"

During an interview with our school's Journalism students, he advised, "Work harder than anyone else and you will always benefit from the effort."

On top of that, he really manifests the qualities of being a true artist, as he strives his best to do better than usual and is not afraid to spread his art, not just around the country but around the world as well.

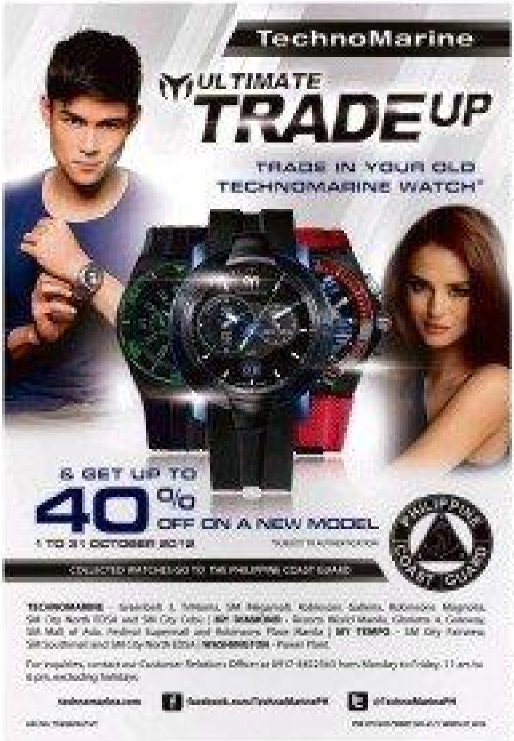

To sum these all up, even though this graphic nerd is in the middle of refining his ability and exploring new things in art, he is already sharing his unparalleled creations in the world of art.

DAUGHTERS of movie queens: Board member Ana Martinez (left) and former MTRCB chair Grace Poe-Llamanzares at the latter's sendoff on Wednesday.

'R-16' fills gap in MTRCB rating

By Bayani San Diego Jr.

THE MOVIE and Television Review and Classification Board (MTRCB) has come up with a revised classification system for films, which now includes an R-16 rating.

The new rating system took effect last Sept. 1 pursuant to Memorandum Circular No. 08, 2012, according to Grace Poe-Llamanzares, former chair of the MTRCB.

Llamanzares recently resigned from the board to run for the Senate. Vice chair Emmanuel Borlaza has been designated as MTRCB officer-in-charge.

There used to be five ratings for movies: General Audience (G), which means all ages are admitted; PG-13, children below 13 years old should be accompanied by an adult; R-13, strictly for 13 years and older; R-18, strictly for 18 years and older, and X, not for public viewing.

Difference

Llamanzares said the impetus is that the board saw a need to address a "gap" in the rating system. She explained: "While some R-18 films may be too mature for teenagers ages 13 to 15, 16-year-olds may be ready to watch them."

She cited the Oscar-winning film "Black Swan" as an example: "Although it's artistic and critically acclaimed, we received complaints that it might be too daring for teeners."

She also noted that some Filipino indie films often get R-18 ratings though high-school students were now more than equipped to view them.

R-16 would make a world of difference for stakeholders.

Consultations

The board conducted public consultations with industry leaders, TV and movie executives, child welfare advocates and psychologists, as well as a media representative from the Catholic Bishops' Conference of the Philippines (CBCP).

"Two major consultations, along with a series of pocket meetings, were held prior to the revision of the classification system," Llamanzares related.

Among those consulted were filmmakers Brillante Mendoza and Joel Lamangan, scriptwriter Ricky Orosa, industry stal-

WE WONDER what brought this on at last, after much teasing and hearing. Staying one step ahead of Comelec deadlines? (The leading man and the leading lady's husband are running for public office.) Richard Gomez and Dawn Zulueta locked lips on ABS-CBN's drama series "Walang Hanggan"—from wedding to honeymoon—and reportedly sent the ratings north. Will their characters Marco and Emily live happily ever after? The series is on its last four weeks on the Primetime Bida block—quick, before the campaign period takes him away!

BB tries theater

THE STAR BB Gandanghari makes her theater debut in Gantimpala Theater's production of "Ang Bayan ng mga SENYORA." The new play by Juan Javier Reyes is directed by Ron Rabe. Also in the cast are theater veterans Joel Lamangan, Roeder Tugano, Manny Castañeda and Les Nelson. The play goes onstage on Nov. 10 at the Little Theater of the Cultural Center of the Philippines, and then moves to the Aliw Theater of Star City on Nov. 23, 24, 30 and Dec. 1.

Biggest printing show at SMX Convention Center

THE PHILIPPINE CENTER FOR PRINT EXCELLENCE FOUNDATION INC. and Global-Link MP Events International will bring together some of the biggest printing industry suppliers from all over the world to the Print & Label Philippines 2012 exhibit on Oct. 10 to 13 at the SMX Convention Center, Mall of Asia Complex in Pasay City.

"As part of our 'Excellence in Print Development' program, which aims to build a sustainable Philippine printing industry, we are excited to present Print & Label Philippines which we hope will help our industry to be globally competitive," said PCPEF president Samuel Ilo.

Print & Label Philippines 2012 highlights a dynamic and comprehensive showcase of the latest printing and graphic technologies, products and services with over 400 new machines on display from more than 200 exhibiting printing companies. This showcase will allow visitors to preview an estimated 20,000 product lines and source the tools they need to enhance their operations. The show will be open to visitors from 1:30 p.m. to 6:30 p.m. on Oct. 10, 10:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. on Oct. 11 and 12, and 10:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Oct. 13. Admission to the show is free. To get your complimentary all-access visitor pass, register at www.globallinkmp.com.

Held under the banner of the country's biggest industrial machinery show, Manufacturing Technology World, production heads, general managers, technical advisers, owners and printing professionals can all look forward to the special activities during the show like the Printers Technology Forum, Printer's Appreciation Night, Printer's Shop, and Print & Label today convention.

"We gathered some of the most respected names in the printing industry to conduct free technical seminars and product presentations to sharpen and enhance the technical know-how of printers," said Rudy Poche, PCPEF executive director. For inquiries, call 752-8688 or email at info@globallinkmp.com.
